Highlights Q4

Net interest income (NII) exiting the trough resulting from the ECB interest rate reductions over the last quarters

Net commission income (NCI) up 5% YoY with growth in all customer segments

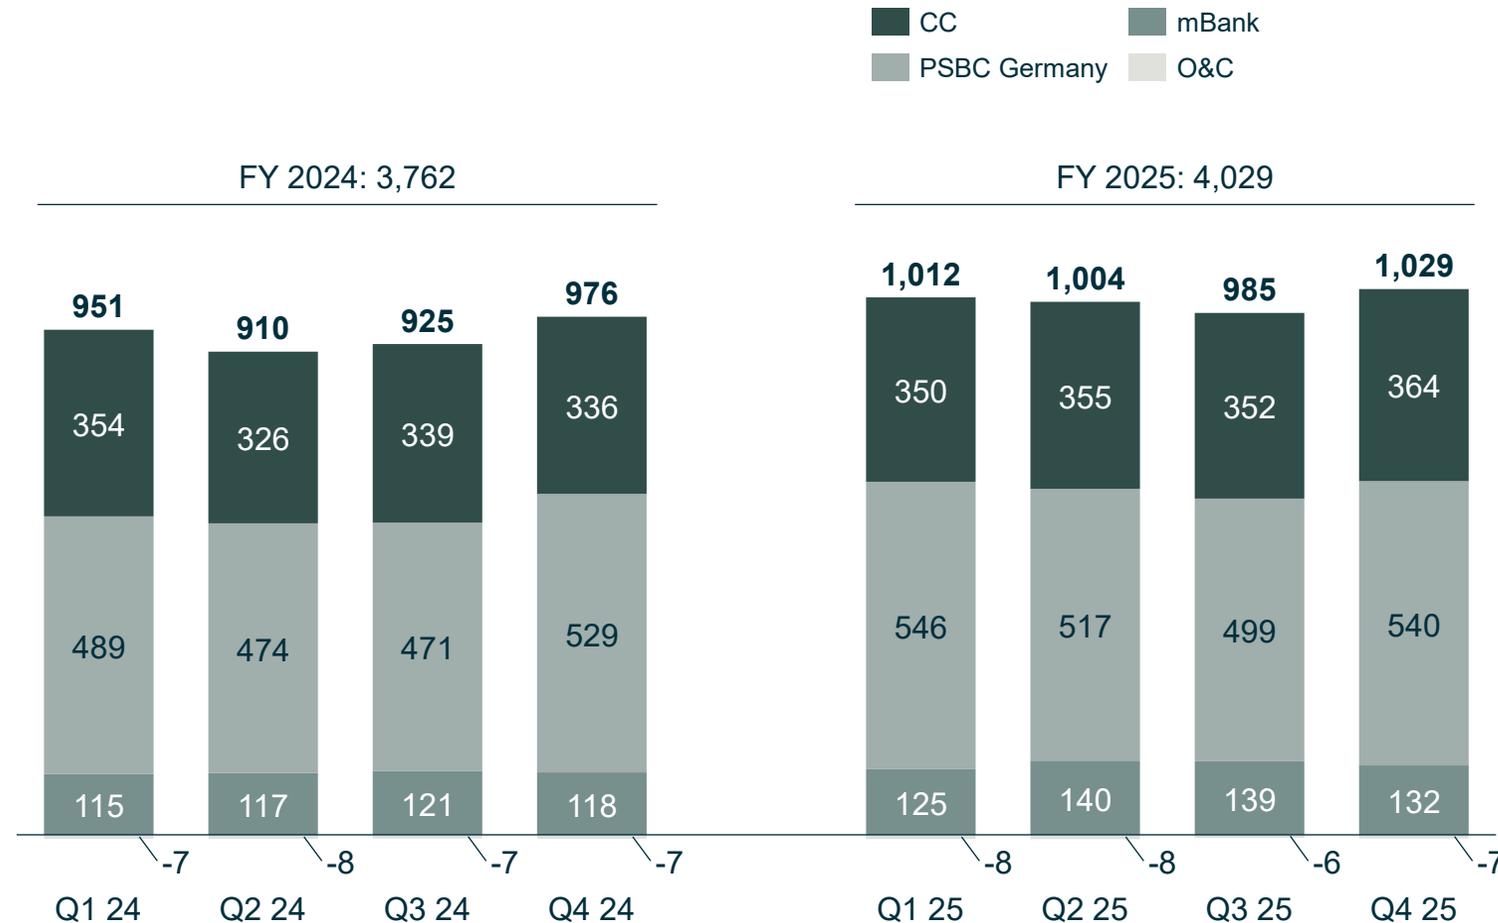

Net fair value result (NFV) €27m higher YoY driven by mBank with higher NFV offsetting lower NII

Other income of €79m excluding provisions for FX loans mainly reflects the hedge result (€47m), dividend income (€11m) and realisation gains from banking book positions (€14m)

Q4 with record net commission income

Net commission income (NCI) (€m)

Q4 YoY net commission income up 5% – leading to full year growth of 7%

Corporate Clients (CC) with 8% YoY growth in record Q4 25, mainly driven by syndication from new loan business

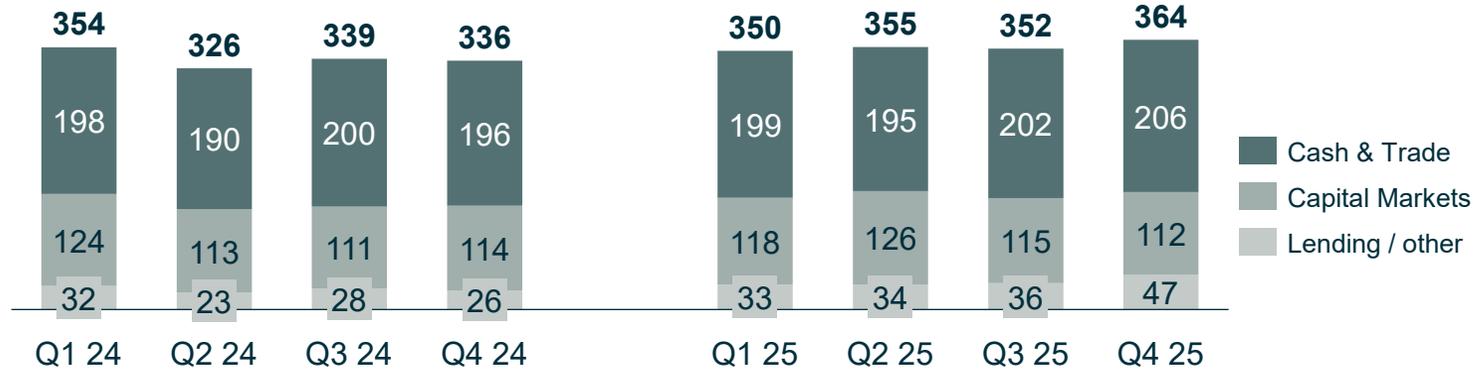

Private and Small-Business Customers Germany (PSBC Germany) with record Q4 based on good securities business and higher account fees

mBank with 11% higher NCI YoY based on growth of transactions related businesses, in particular payments

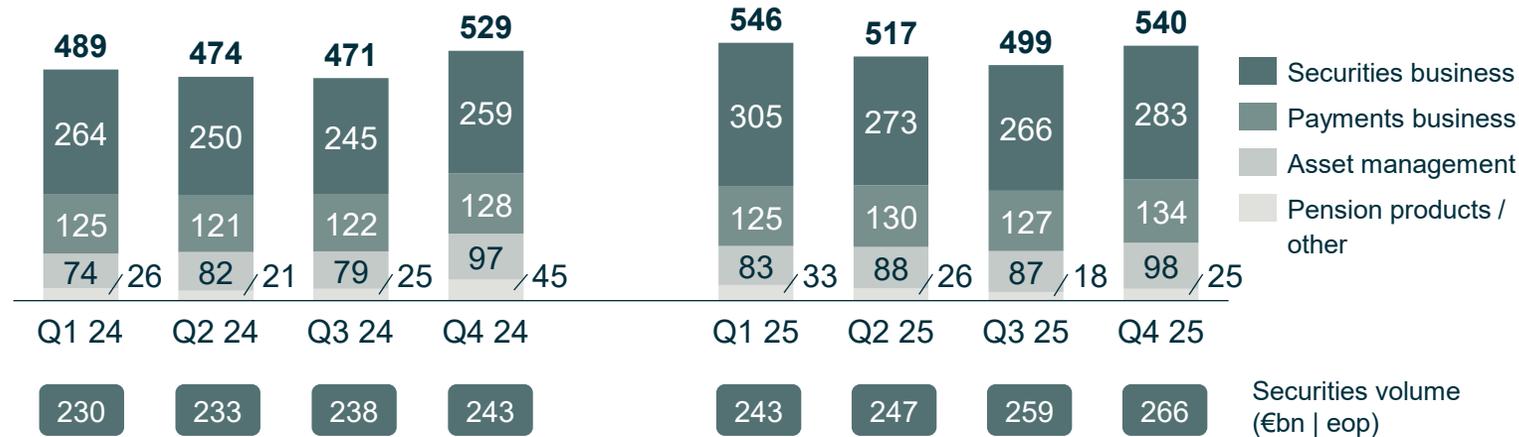

NCI increased across products

Net commission income Corporate Clients
(€m)

Net commission income PSBC Germany
(€m)

Corporate Clients

Trade Finance up 4% YoY despite weak exports

Capital Markets on level of last year

Strong growth in lending from syndication fees

Private and Small-Business Customers Germany

Strong growth in securities business due to higher volume- and transaction-based fees

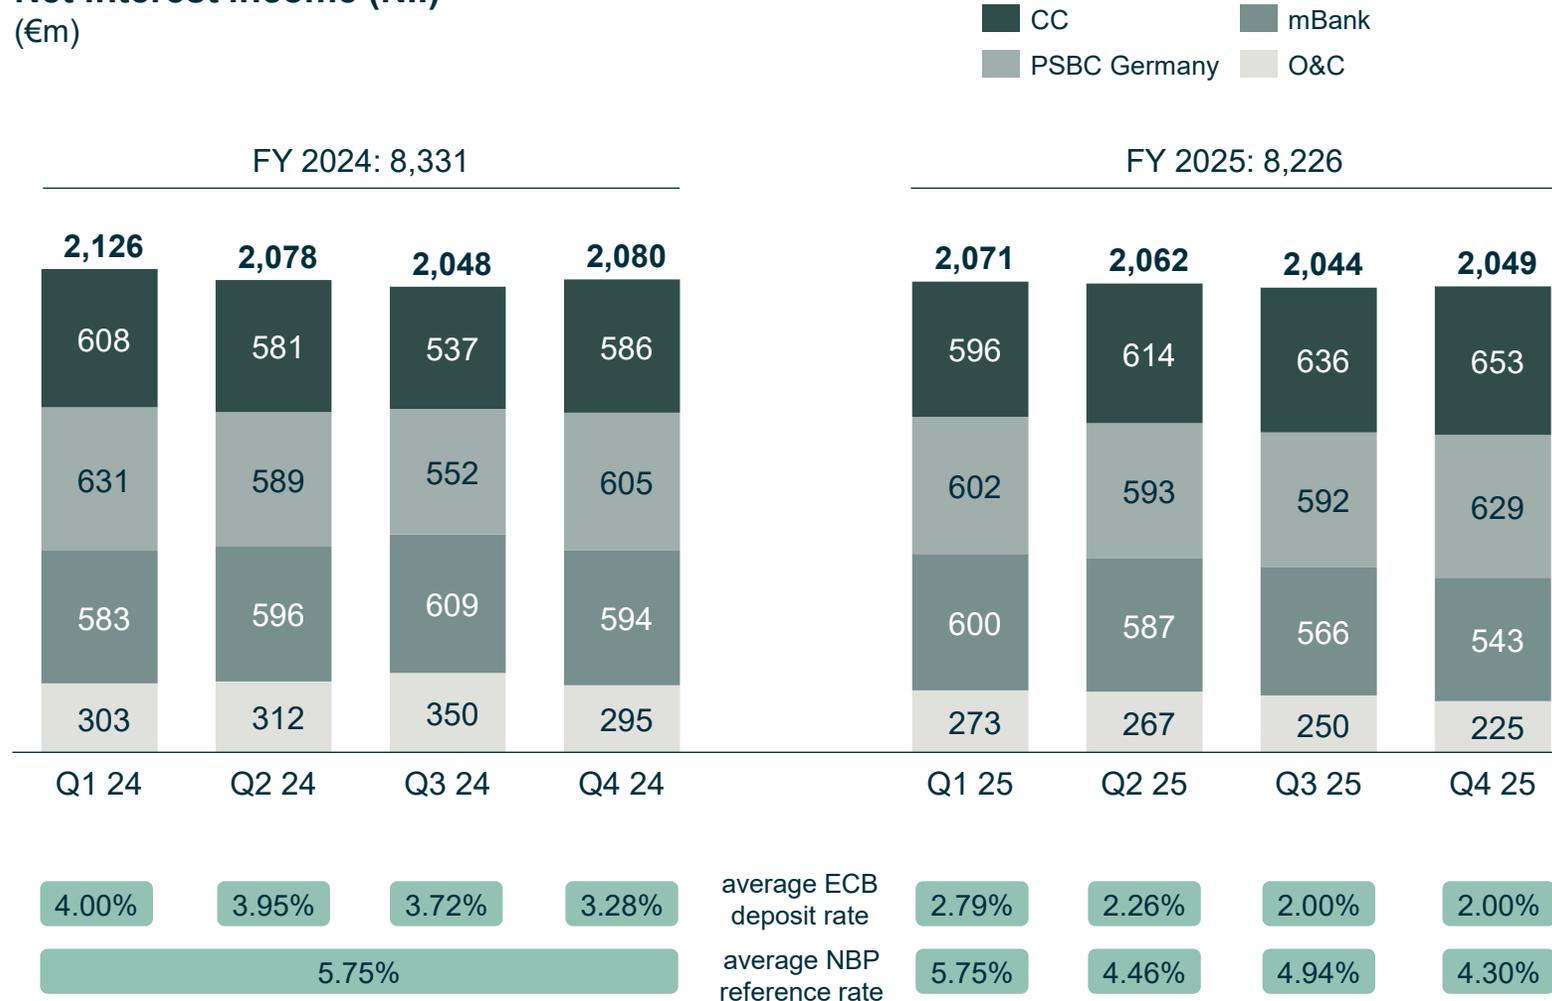

YoY payments business driven by higher account fees

AM stable YoY – revenues increase QoQ driven by discretionarily managed portfolios

NII started upward trajectory in Q4

Net interest income (NII) (€m)

Corporate Clients (CC) with higher NII QoQ from growing loan business and higher sight deposit volume. YoY increase from loans and lower funding costs overcompensates lower contributions from deposits

Private and Small-Business Customers Germany (PSBC Germany) with higher NII – QoQ increase driven by the replication portfolios and deposit management

mBank with lower NII as growth and margin management only partially compensate lower rates – offset by measures to stabilise NII reported in NFV

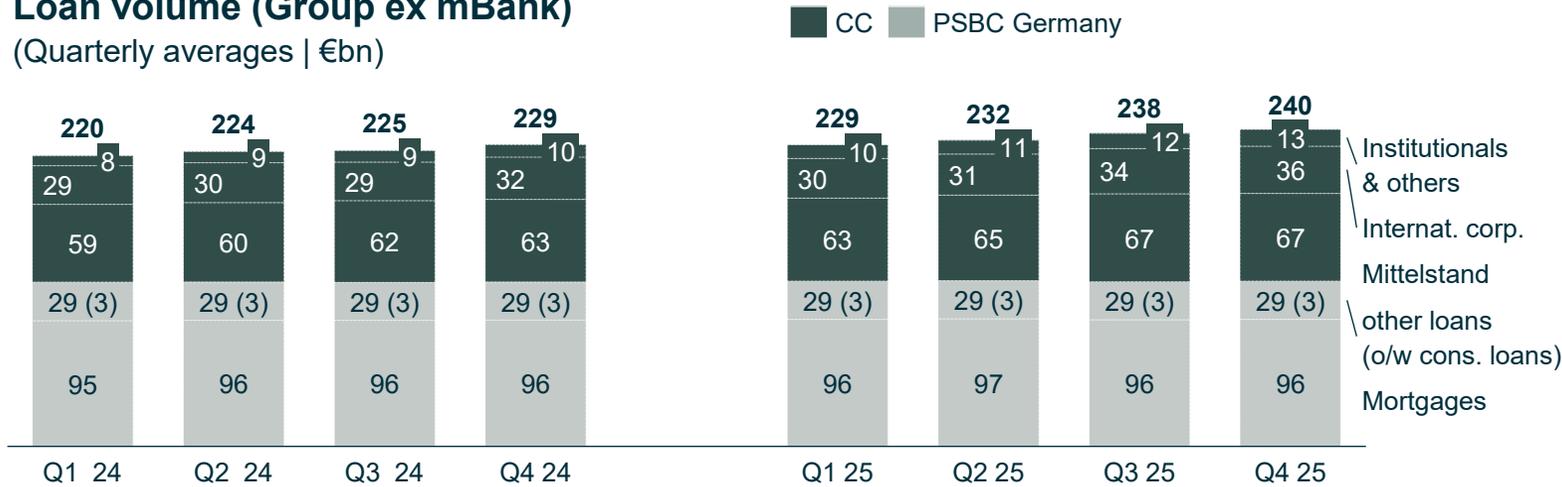

Others & Consolidation (O&C) with lower NII YoY mainly from lower ECB deposit rate with offsetting effect in NFV

Continued loan and deposit growth

Loan volume (Group ex mBank)

(Quarterly averages | €bn)

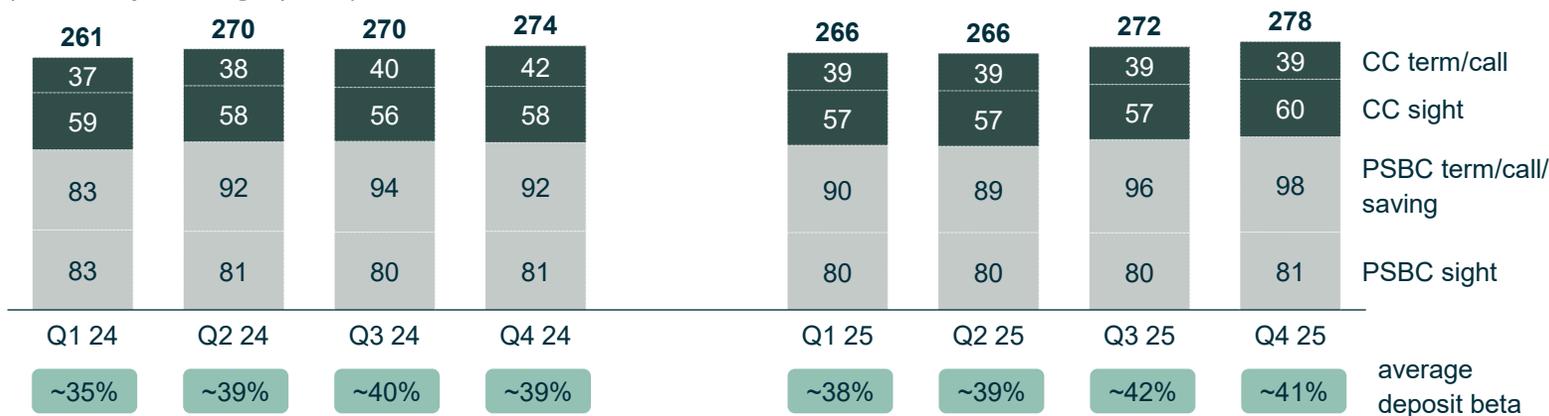

In CC loan volume growth of €10.9bn (10%) YoY and €2.4bn (2%) QoQ

German residential mortgage volume stable. New business volume was €2.1bn (€2.7bn in Q3)

Deposit volume (Group ex mBank)

(Quarterly average | €bn)

In CC deposit volumes increased by €2.7bn QoQ. YoY slightly lower with shifts from term/call to sight deposits

In PSBC Germany deposit volumes up €2.7bn QoQ

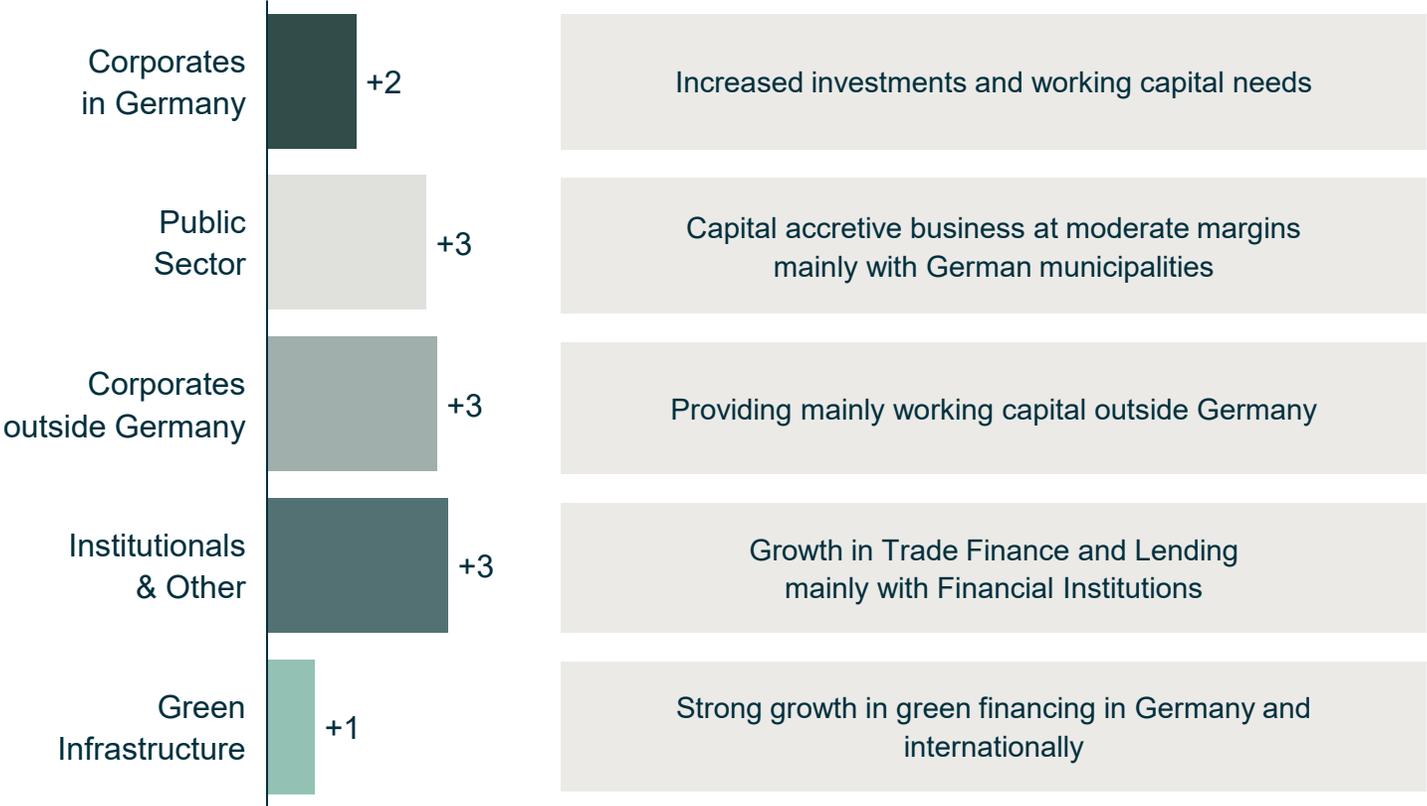

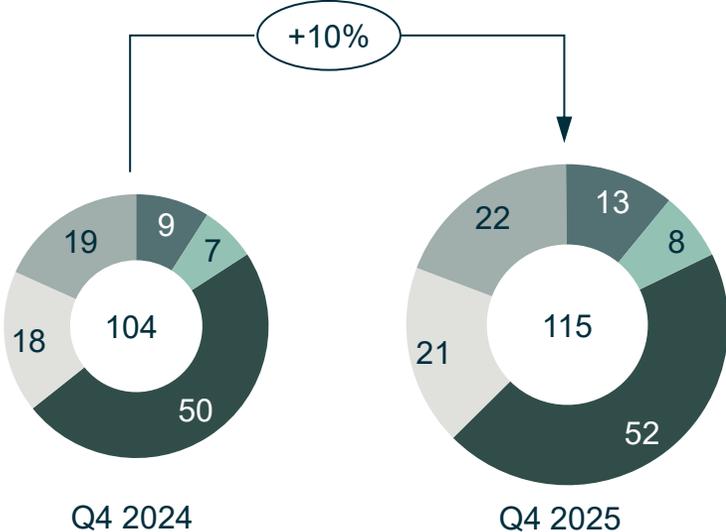

Beta improved to ~41% mainly due to ending of guaranteed high interest rates on certain PSBC call accounts

Diversified drivers of sustained loan growth in CC

Corporate Clients loan volumes
(Quarterly averages | €bn)

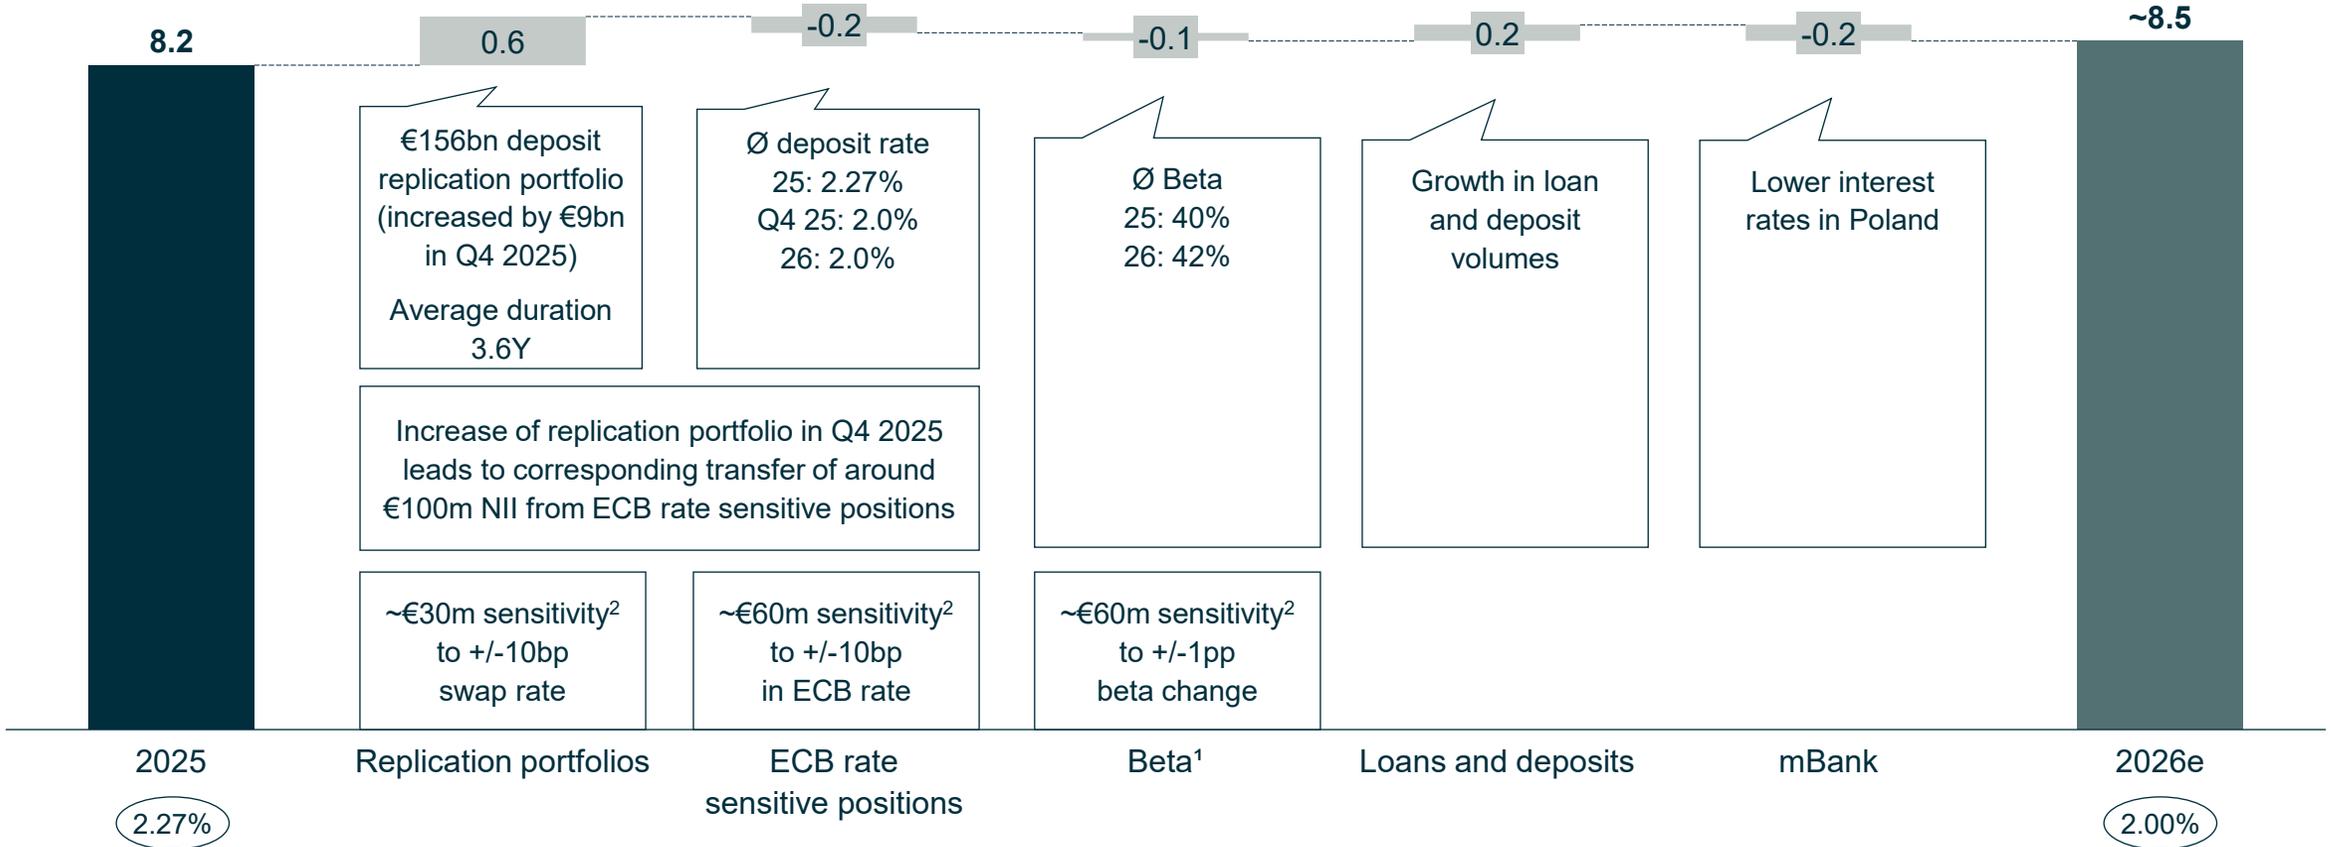

Changes since Q4 2024
(€bn)

NII outlook 2026 raised to ~€8.5bn

Expected development of NII (€bn)

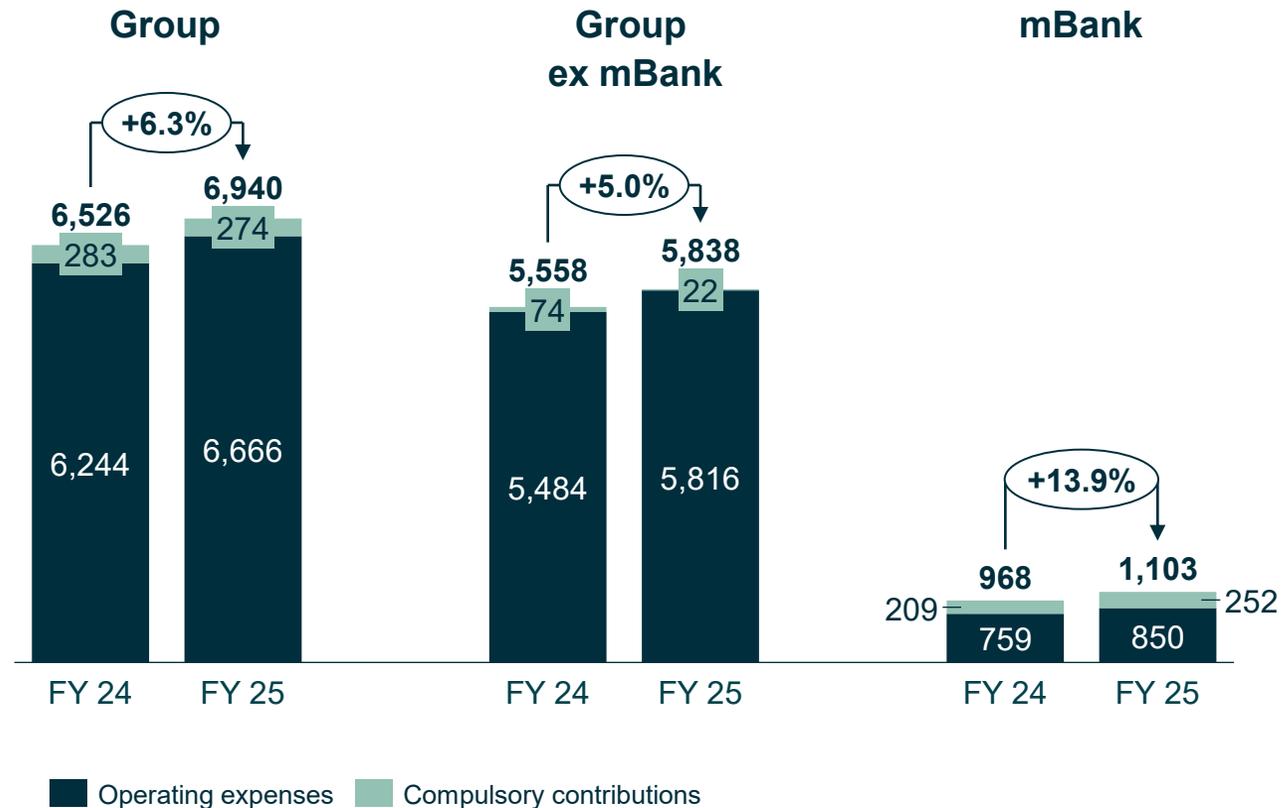

1) Deposit beta is the average interest pass-through rate to customers across interest-bearing and non-interest-bearing deposit products based on ECB deposit rate; sensitivity relative to FY 2025
 2) Sensitivity for 12 months

○ average ECB deposit rate

Costs managed to Cost-Income-Ratio target of 57%

Costs
(€m)

12M cost includes increased valuation effects for equity-based compensation due to higher share price (€90m) and accelerated depreciation of intangible assets (€117m, thereof €52m incurred in Q4)

12M cost increase in Group ex mBank further driven by general salary increases and FTE increase from shoring and sourcing activities

Operating expenses for mBank rose from investments in business growth. In addition, increase in contribution to the Polish Resolution Fund and re-introduction of deposit guarantee scheme after no contribution in 2024

Despite special effects 2025 CIR target of 57% achieved. Strict cost management will be continued in 2026

Risk result on the level of previous year

Risk result (€m)

Q4 risk result of -€207m better than expectation and below previous year

Strong Q4 revenues driven by healthy loan growth. QoQ increase also reflects better performance from financial markets and higher deposit volume

International Corporates and Institutionals revenue increase results mainly from lending, trade finance and capital markets – confirming the growth potential in the bank’s international franchise

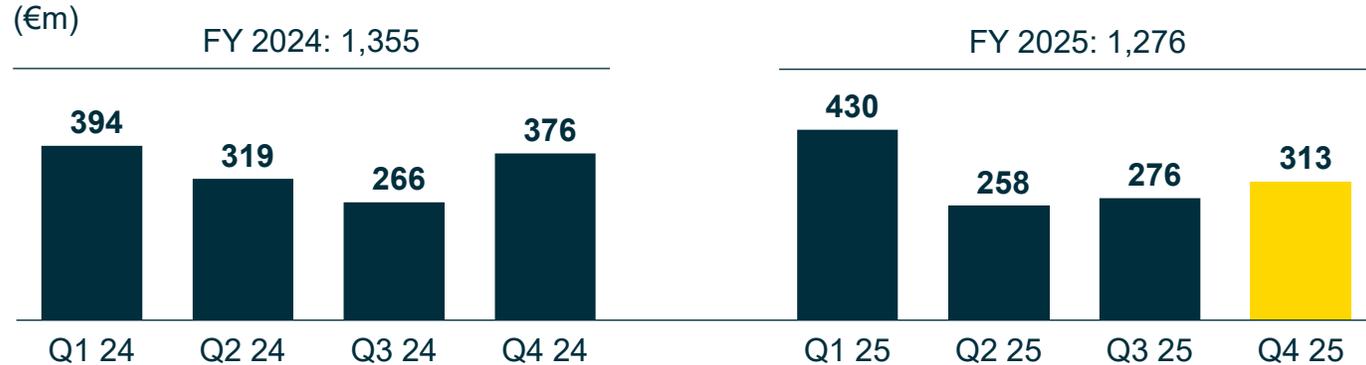

Mittelstand lower YoY due to deposits, not fully compensated by moderate growth in lending

1) Since Q1 2025, change in the calculation of the operating return on equity: the percentage by which the segments’ equity is determined by applying it to the respective RWA, has been increased from 12.7% to 13.5%, in line with the CET1 ratio target

PSBC Germany with increased revenues

Operating result

With introduction of new client advisory model in Q4 customer allocation for Small-Business Customers and Private Customers has changed. Therefore, revenues in Q4 are not fully comparable to previous quarters

Private Customers and Small-Business Customers combined have substantially higher revenues with increase of 7% YoY and 11% QoQ – mainly due to better securities business, higher account fees and higher contributions from the replication portfolios as well as active deposit management. YoY also higher contributions from mortgages (stable QoQ)

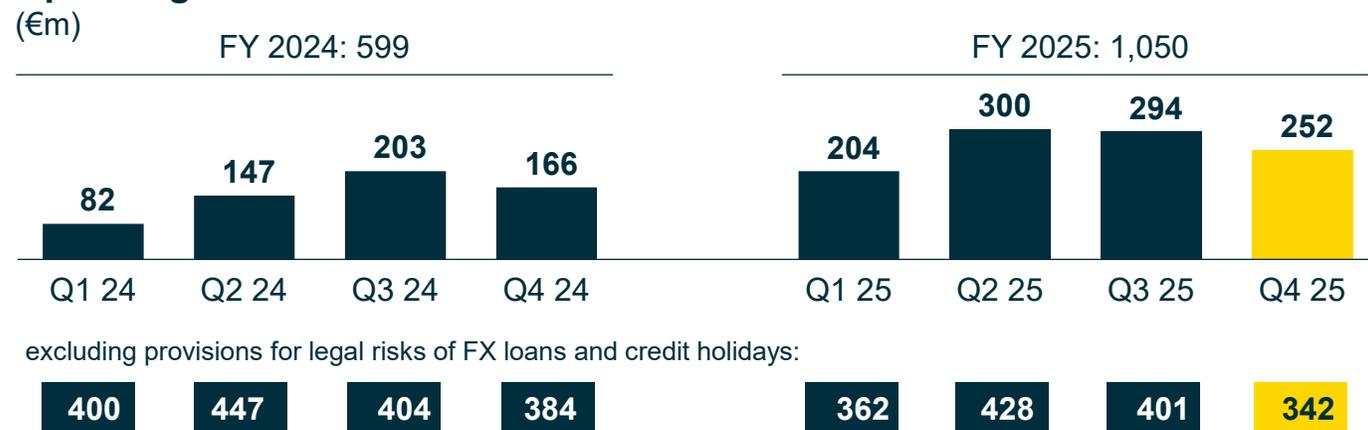

Asset Management Subsidiaries with lower revenues in Q4 as Q4 2024 and Q3 2025 benefitted from transaction fees

1) Since Q1 2025, change in the calculation of the operating return on equity: the percentage by which the segments' equity is determined by applying it to the respective RWA, has been increased from 12.7% to 13.5%, in line with the CET1 ratio target

Q4 operating result up 52% YoY driven by reduced FX loan provisions and 11% NCI growth reflecting high customer activity – lower QoQ mainly due to higher risk result and costs

Q4 25 revenues before provisions for FX loans slightly below Q3 25 level due to lower NII resulting from further decrease in PLN interest rates partially offset by measures to stabilise NII reported in NFV

Provisions for legal risks of FX loans more than halved to -€483m (previous year: -€1,002m). Outstanding provisions amount to €823m. Number of loan contracts in court and new court cases have dropped materially. The financial burden from FX mortgages will no longer be material in 2026

Transition of CET1 ratio

QoQ OpRisk RWA increase mainly due to the increased revenues in the rolling 3-year-average model

QoQ slight decrease in credit risk RWA with RWA from loan growth more than offset by 3 new SRTs

In total CET1 capital increased by €0.1bn mainly due to improved prudential valuation and lower deductions for intangible assets

YtD €2.7bn capital dedicated for distribution to shareholders (-154bp)

In January 2026 MDA lowered by ~6bp as the ECB has reduced capital requirements by 10bp in the supervisory review process (SREP)

Momentum strategy: financial targets towards 2028

Capital return

Commerzbank is committed to consistently return capital to shareholders, targeting a regular distribution significantly above 50%, but not exceeding the IFRS net profit after AT1 coupon payments, minority interests, excluding extraordinary, non-recurring items

Return consists of share buyback¹ and dividend approved at AGM of following year

The payout will also depend on the economic conditions and business opportunities. Commerzbank aims to at least maintain and steadily increase the dividend per share. Share buybacks will be applied for any remaining capital to be returned within the payout ratio

CET1 ratio

A prerequisite for a dividend is a CET1 ratio of at least MDA +250bp after distribution

Prerequisite for a share buyback is a CET1 ratio of at least 13.5% after distribution¹

In case the CET1 ratio is expected to remain well above 13.5% in the medium term, an extraordinary distribution above the IFRS net profit will be considered as an option¹; this is subject to macro-economic developments and a successful strategy execution

1) Subject to alignment with / approval by ECB and German Finance Agency

Latest development

The German economy has started a slight upward trend. In the final quarter of 2025, real GDP rose by 0.3% compared with the previous quarter, after stagnating in the third quarter. This means that there was a small increase of 0.2% in 2025 as a whole, following declines in the two previous years.

The latest developments in sentiment indicators give little hope that the upturn will strengthen in the short term. The composite PMI has barely risen recently, and the Ifo business climate index has even fallen slightly since the summer. At least the PMI is still above the 50 mark, signaling a slight expansion of the economy.

Continued very subdued growth is having an increasingly strong negative impact on the labor market. Employment fell slightly in the second half of last year, and the seasonally adjusted number of unemployed is rising steadily, reaching just under 3 million recently, a level last seen more than 14 years ago.

The inflation rate has stabilized close to the ECB's target of 2%. However, this is partly due to lower energy prices. The core inflation rate, which excludes the often highly volatile energy and food prices, was slightly higher at 2.5% in January.

Outlook for 2026

The German economy is likely to pick up in the course of 2026. In addition to the ECB's interest rate cuts, this is particularly supported by the significantly more expansionary fiscal policy.

However, a strong upturn is not to be expected. This is because numerous structural problems continue to slow down the German economy. The same applies to the higher US tariffs, which are making it more difficult for German companies to access their most important export market. In addition, demand from China is steadily weakening. Instead, Chinese companies are becoming strong competitors in more and more areas. Overall, we expect the German economy to grow by 0.9% in 2026.

The inflation rate is likely to remain close to the ECB's target of 2% in the coming months. The dampening effect of energy prices is likely to gradually subside. On the other hand, the core inflation rate is expected to fall slightly, but to remain above 2%. This is because, despite the weak economy, companies will continue to pass on at least part of the massive increase in their wage costs to their customers.

Between June 2024 and spring 2025, the ECB lowered its key interest rate, the deposit rate, by two percentage points from 4.0% to 2.0%. Given moderate growth and a fairly stable inflation rate of 2%, the ECB is likely to leave the key interest rate at this level for the time being.

Details on selected sectors

Automotive industry: The automotive sector continues to face significant challenges, driven by industry-specific factors such as the need for transformation, inefficient cost structures including excess capacities, and the increasing competition from Chinese BEV manufacturers. Moreover, the imposition of U.S. tariffs in 2025 has further strained the industry, adding to its already difficult environment

Mechanical Engineering: Ongoing weak investment levels, influenced by uncertainties surrounding tariff policies and geopolitical tensions, are hindering a rebound in order-intake. This translates into decreased export activities and underutilised production capacities across the sector. Furthermore, intensifying competition from Chinese providers can be observed

Construction/Metal: Portfolio broadly diversified. Weaker demand in the housing, automotive and mechanical engineering sectors is increasingly burdening small and medium-sized companies

Consumption: Heterogeneous sector, includes the manufacturing and sale of private consumption goods. All segments (including furniture) suffer from weak demand and high energy and labour costs. Clothing: The clothing manufacturers suffer in the mid-price range from the polarisation between luxury and low-price vertical fashion brands, from the market entry of Asian online platforms, formal clothing losing against casual wear and from higher production costs (raw materials, energy and labour)

Comfortable fulfilment of RWA and LRE MREL requirements

Updated with 12/2025 figures on 18 February 2026

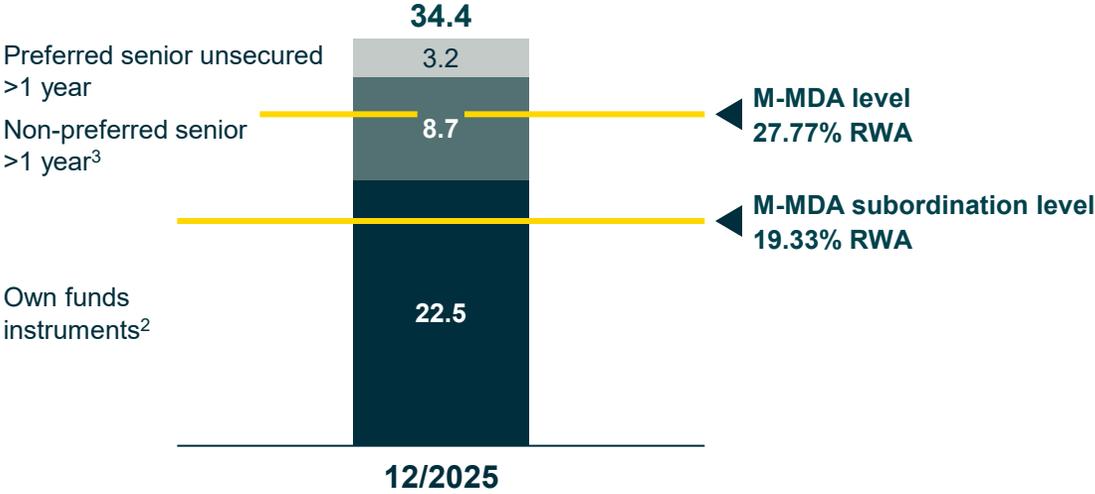

MREL Requirements and M-MDA

Based on data as of 31 December 2025, Commerzbank fulfils its current MREL RWA requirement for resolution group A¹ of 27.8% RWA with an MREL ratio of 34.4% RWA and the MREL subordination requirement of 19.3% RWA with a ratio of 31.1% RWA, both requirements include the combined buffer requirement (CBR).

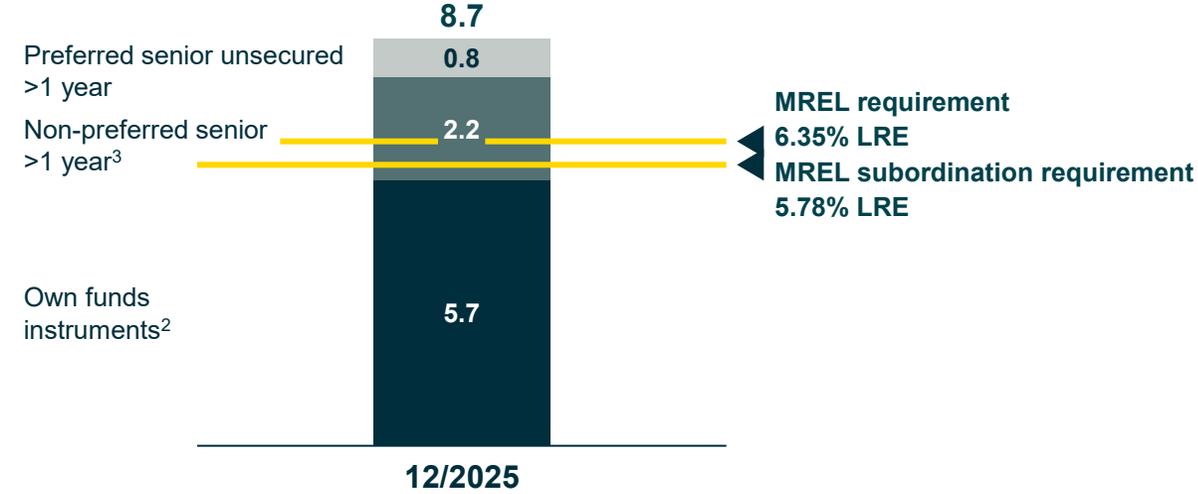

Both, the MREL LRE ratio of 8.7% and MREL subordination LRE ratio of 7.9% comfortably meet the requirement of 6.4% and 5.8% respectively.

The issuance strategy is consistent with all RWA and LRE based MREL requirements.

IAS 19: Development of pension obligations

Cumulated actuarial gains and losses (€m)

In 2025 market bond yields went up, driving the IAS19 discount rate to 4.6% at year-end versus 3.8% at year-start. Thus, the present-valued pension obligations (DBO) went down, producing a comfortable YtD liability gain in OCI

On the same market movement, pension assets produced a moderate YtD asset loss in OCI through losses on the LDI-hedges, partly compensated by gains on the growth strategy

In total, pension obligations and pension assets in 2025 produced a net OCI gain of +€331m (after tax) on Group level

The discount rate is derived from a basket of AA-rated EUR government bonds, re-calibrated on corporate bond level, with an average duration of slightly above 12 years

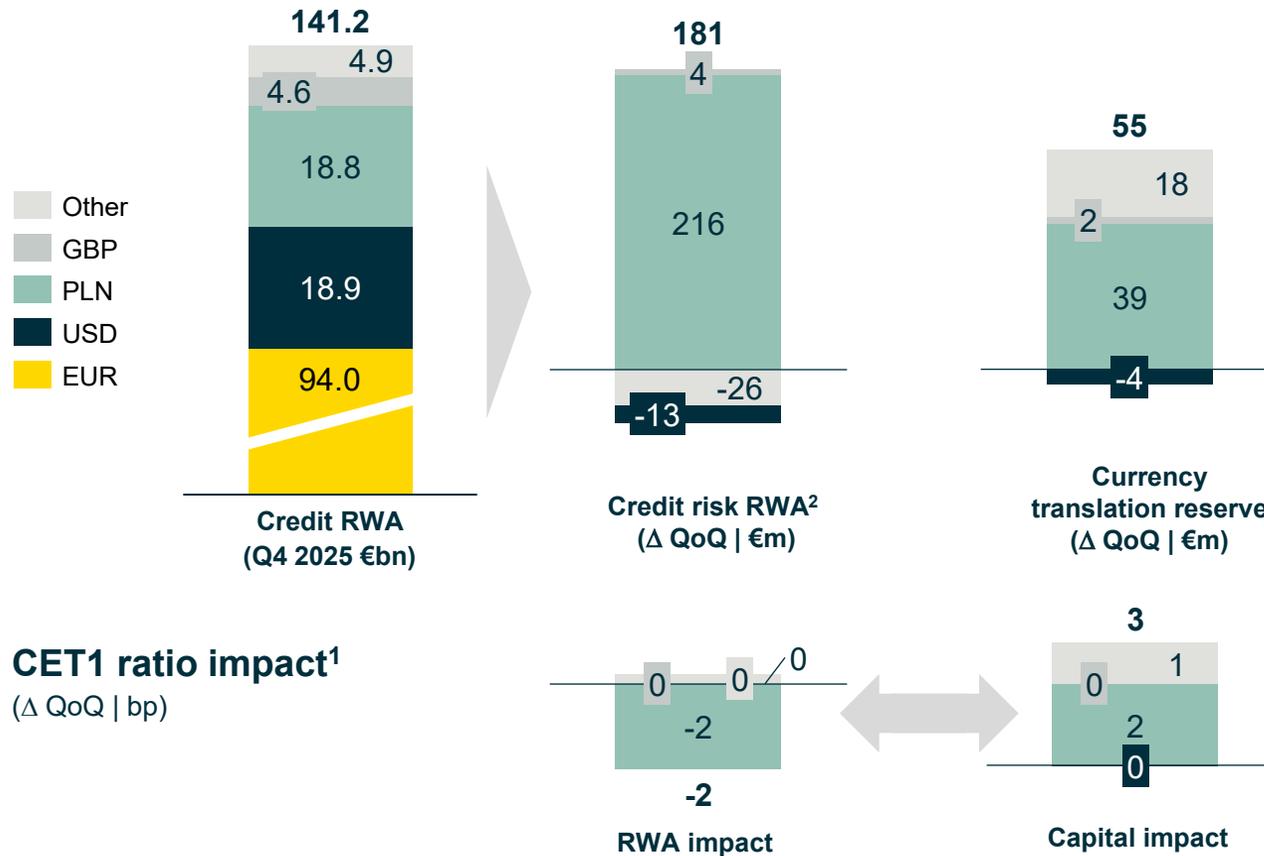

Due to the positive OCI development over the past years, the funding ratio (plan assets vs. pension obligations) is now 121% across all Group plans

1) Net OCI effect driven by development of plan assets versus pension obligations, after tax, without minorities; cumulated since 1/1/2013 (new IAS19 standard) including possible restatements

Disclaimer

This presentation contains forward-looking statements. Forward-looking statements are statements that are not historical facts; they include, inter alia, statements about Commerzbank's beliefs and expectations and the assumptions underlying them. These statements are based on plans, estimates, projections and targets as they are currently available to the management of Commerzbank. Forward-looking statements therefore speak only as of the date they are made, and Commerzbank undertakes no obligation to update any of them in light of new information or future events. By their very nature, forward-looking statements involve risks and uncertainties. A number of important factors could therefore cause actual results to differ materially from those contained in any forward-looking statement. Such factors include, among others, the conditions in the financial markets in Germany, in Europe, in the United States and elsewhere from which Commerzbank derives a substantial portion of its revenues and in which it holds a substantial portion of its assets, the development of asset prices and market volatility, potential defaults of borrowers or trading counterparties, the implementation of its strategic initiatives and the reliability of its risk management policies.

In addition, this presentation contains financial and other information which has been derived from publicly available information disclosed by persons other than Commerzbank ("external data"). In particular, external data has been derived from industry and customer-related data and other calculations taken or derived from industry reports published by third parties, market research reports and commercial publications. Commercial publications generally state that the information they contain has originated from sources assumed to be reliable, but that the accuracy and completeness of such information is not guaranteed and that the calculations contained therein are based on a series of assumptions. The external data has not been independently verified by Commerzbank. Therefore, Commerzbank cannot assume any responsibility for the accuracy of the external data taken or derived from public sources.
